22 Graduate Today

Tonight the commencement day program of the Senior class of Grayling High school will take place in the auditorium. There will be 22 young men and women, many of them honor students, take their places before the footlights and listen to an address by Rev. Sidney J. Francis, pastor of the Presbyterian church, Rogers City. Last night there was a large crowd of parents and friends who enjoyed the Class day program that was held.

Rev. Edgar Flory delivered the Baccalaureate sermon to the class Sunday evening at Michelson Memorial church, taking for his theme "A Religion of Today," and his sermon was very interesting and impressive. Rev. Christian Stockholm of the Danish-Lutheran church gave the invocation and benediction and there was an anthem by the choir and Mrs. Roy Milnes and Mrs. Harold Jarmin sang a duet very beautifully.

The class of 1938 chose for their class motto "Today we Follow, Tomorrow we Lead"; the class colors are black and gold and the class flower the yellow rose.

ELECTRIC CO. COMES IN FOR CRITICISM

The meeting of the Chamber of Commerce last week Thursday night was well attended. President Royal A. Wright presided and gave a resume of the activities of the organization since it was organized last fall.

It appears that there had been considerable complaint about the assessments that had been levied, many feeling that some firms had been assessed too high, and that others had been assessed too little. This matter was quite generally discussed.

President Wright appointed C. J. McNamara, treasurer of the board, as chairman of a special committee to check up on the assessments of members and to make such revisions as they felt were justified. No doubt the findings of the committee will be used for a basis of assessment for next year. There was a unanimous expression in favor of continuing the Chamber of Commerce, and to extend its operations.

The public utilities came in for severe criticism. Only the night previous an electric storm put the electric service out of commission intermittently. It was suggested that application be made to the Consumers Power Co., whose lines are already in Beaver Creek township, for electric service. According to City Manager George Granger that Company would not consider coming here in competition with the Michigan Public Service Co. Well, that was that, and it looks as tho the people of Grayling would have to continue to be content with the poor electric service that we seem to be getting.

The Tri-County Telephone Co., too, came in for criticism. The response to calls is slow at times was the general opinion. The average time for operators to take calls, it was claimed, was 2 seconds. But when one has to ring several times before Central answers, certainly there is something wrong. This happens frequently, it was claimed.

We know the Telephone Company is about to remodel its system and we may then expect the kind of service this city deserves. Grayling patrons are hoping they will get automatic service.

A Detroit industry hopes to locate its manufacturing plant in Grayling. This would employ about 35 men and women. They would require a minimum floor space of 10,000 square feet, besides a small fireproof building. It is expected that the Company will furnish sketched plans for the structure from which we may get estimates on the cost. Roughly guessing it would cost Grayling people from between $10,000 to $20,000 for the building and lot. The busy season for this firm would be from October 1st to March 31st, which would be quite ideal for our working people. A committee, headed by City Manager George Granger, is investigating the proposition.

Board of Review Meeting

The Grayling Township Board of Review meets at the town hall in the City of Grayling on June 7 and 8 and also on the 13th and 14th, at 8:00 a. m. o'clock until 4:00 o'clock p. m.

Fred Niederer, Township Supervisor.

City Making Many Improvements

A storm sewer is being laid on Cedar street from the US-27 bridge at the AuSable river to Ottawa street, and will be laid on Michigan avenue from Norway street to Peninsular avenue. This is a WPA project and work begun on May 31st. At the present time work is centered on the space between the river and Michigan avenue on Cedar street.

The City Council has bargained for dust layer to be placed on about 3½ miles of city streets, and work of applying will begin within a few days.

The job the City does each first Monday of the month in picking up rubbish placed in front of homes, is excellent work. There's no reason whatever why everyone's yard in town should not be clean, when this service is free to the public.

Have you noticed how nice the City Park at the end of Michigan avenue looks. Now it's a regular city tourist park and most of the time there are at least a dozen housecars parked there, and many more over weekends. The property borders on the beautiful east branch of the AuSable and it's an ideal place to pitch one's tent or place a housecar and enjoy the great northern fresh air. Boulevard lights mark its entrance and a fine large sign "City Tourist Park" has been placed near the entrance. These and the table and benches have all been nicely repainted green, the lavatories painted white, and all underbrush has been cleaned out. Six or eight stone fireplaces have been built, and the park is lighted with several outlets installed for convenience of tourists. There are certain regulations and rules for those who use the park, and copies of these have been posted in conspicuous places.

Years ago this property was known as Leece's Grove and was owned by the late John Leece, and later Mr. Leece sold the property to the late R. D. Connine. After that it became known as Connine's Grove until last fall when the City Council made a purchase of the property from the Connine interests. It has through-out many years been used for picnics, by grownups and children, and youngsters have made good use of it for a playground. When it was known as Leece's grove it was quite a wild piece of land, and children delighted in gathering strawberries and huckleberries there. And kids do you remember the Connine horse that roamed the park and oftentimes got into your lunch box hidden under a tree.

Firemen Have Busy Time

FIRE DESTROYS HOME, DAMAGES OTHER PROPERTY

Fire early Friday morning destroyed the property of Mrs. Mae Moore located on the South side, and damaged the garage and a woodshed belonging to George Bielski nearby. The Moore property was occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Tom Galloway and Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Canfield and they had left the house at about 6:00 o'clock and had gone to Houghton Lake fishing, expecting to be gone overnight. It was sometime after midnight that George Bielski was awakened from his slumbers, by some tourists, who had seen the fire from atop the high hill on the highway coming into Grayling. Arriving at the scene of the fire they saw no one around and so awakened the Bielski family, telling them that their neighbor's home was burning.

Mr. Bielski quickly sent in an alarm and the fire department responded in a hurry, but the fire had gained such headway that there was no chance whatever of saving the building and it burned to the ground together with the contents, the latter being owned by Tom Galloway. It was a hot fire and sparks flew high and dropped on nearby buildings, but firemen were on the alert and quickly extinguished them. However the roofs of the garage and woodshed of George Bielski nearby were badly scorched.

It is reported that the fire evidently caught from the kitchen stove. The property of Mrs. Moore and Mr. Bielski were covered by insurance, however the families who occupied the Moore house lost everything.

Although there was no alarm of fire sounded Saturday afternoon, the fire truck was summoned to the Alfred Hanson garage. Joe Merrill, foreman was washing grease and dirt from auto parts with gasoline in the work room and soon after started the emery wheel when sparks flew igniting the gasoline on his arms. The sparks in turn ignited the pan of gasoline used for washing parts, and it kept Merrill and Raymond Winget, another mechanic, busy trying to extinguish the flames. The department was called as a precaution, however, the fire was out when they arrived. Both Merrill and Winget had their arms scorched, however they were only second degree burns.

Tuesday noon the fire department was called to the wood lot of the Rasmussen Lumber Company, when a pile of wood was discovered afire, evidently caused by a lighted match thrown by a passer-by into the dry grass. Between 20 and 25 cords of wood were burned.

Arrived Home

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert W. Wolff arrived in Grayling Friday morning and were met at the train by many of their Grayling friends. As is generally known here Mr. Wolff is recovering from a serious illness that kept him in a New York hospital for many months. He is executive vice president of the American Car & Foundry Co.

With Mr. and Mrs. Wolff were Mr. Melvin J. Alger, vice president of the Michigan Central railroad, and Mrs. Alger. The party arrived in the private car of the president of the railroad. While Mr. Wolff is still in a convalescent condition he is able to meet his friends. Awaiting autos took the party to their home on Lake Margrethe, where he is resting comfortably. He spends part of his time out of doors as well as about the house.

Everyone knowing the Wolffs have felt a deep concern about Mr. Wolff's illness. His many years in business has won him a large circle of friends high in official and industrial circles. At the departure of their car from the Grand Central Station in New York there was a large crowd present to wish them a pleasant and comfortable journey and to cheer them on their way. Their car was abloom with beautiful bouquets and more were added as the train stopped at stations along the way, and many good-will telegrams were received.

While Mr. and Mrs. Alger had lived in Michigan (Detroit) most of their lives this was their first visit to Grayling and they were impressed at the beauty of Lake Margrethe and the whole north country.

School Pupils Given Awards

At the final assembly of the year, school awards were made to the students in the Commercial Department who won at Traverse City, to the Championship baseball team, and to the members of the orchestra.

The Commercial award winners were Marie LaMotte, Gloria LaMotte, Beatrice Peterson, Virginia Charron, and Emil Tahvonen. They received a printed certificate sent by the Lewis-Chapin Business College.

The baseball team which won the Conference title, consisted of the following players who received their letters: Keith Bowen, Dewey Coutts, Lewis Rutkowski, John Henry Peterson, Jim Peterson, John Deckrow, John Matthews, Arnold Tibbets, Pat Kolka, Fred Westerholm, Paul Lovely, Allen Anthony, and Ebbie Olson, manager.

The orchestra members received very attractive pins for their efforts this year. They were presented to Phyllis Hewitt, Virginia and Kathryn Charron, Virginia and Beatrice Peterson, John Henry Peterson, Betty Parsons, Edward Martin, Clifford Parker, Charles McNamara, Faye Christenson, Eleanor Bugby and Charles Fletcher.

The awards were made by Miss Dorr, Mr. Cornell and Miss Johnson.

Legion Senior Awards Presented

Grayling Post No. 106 of the American Legion introduced a new step in their policy of Americanization. In cooperation with the High School faculty the Legion now awards one Senior boy and one Senior girl each year. Selections from this year's graduating class have been made and as a result Virginia Charron and John Henry Peterson are the first students to be so honored. The presentation was made in a special assembly by Post Commander Earl Wood. A plaque for the trophy case will carry the names of these two students, and in addition each was given a pin, and a certificate of award.

The process of selection that was used was left to the school. Each of the ten teachers in High School submitted three names for each award. Students suggested received three points for a first place choice, two for a second, and one for a third place. The totals decided the choice. For the girls the three highest were Virginia Charron, Jerrine Peterson, and Beatrice Peterson. In addition Marie LaMotte, Ruth Benware, Dorothea Morris, and Gloria LaMotte received votes. The boy's votes showed John Henry Peterson, Keith Bowen, and Lewis Rutkowski in the first three places, with Richard Brady, Wesley Dunham, and Allen Carr also being considered.

The choices were made on the basis of all-around citizenship in the school as well as scholarship. All members of the graduating class of twenty-two were considered.

Grayling Golf Course Officially Opened

Last Sunday was a great day at Grayling Golf club when a special program, arranged for golfing coupled with a lot of fun was staged.

Roy Trudgeon and Harold MacNeven, of the program committee, mapped out a course that took the players from one fairway to another not in regular succession. Each group of players were given a different schedule. And when a group, for illustration, was scheduled to go from number 1 green to number eight or five or some other distant tee, it made a lot of hoofing and by nightfall there were many sore feet and tired limbs. It was almost an endurance contest.

Well, it was a change at least, and provoked a lot of fun, but we doubt if the committee will want to do that again. In the evening there was a potluck luncheon in the Club house, and of course that was most welcome for everyone was nearly "starved to death."

Several new players were on the fairways Sunday and no doubt they too will soon become addicted to the golf habit.

Local Men Injured In Railroad Accident

John Brady, section foreman, and his helper, James Reynolds, Jr., were injured Monday morning at about 8:00 o'clock, when the motorcar they operate on the section jumped the track and threw them headlong, beside the Michigan Central tracks. It is reported the flange of the wheel broke, causing the car to leave the tracks. The men were making their regular morning trip over the section. The accident occurred at 1¼ miles south of Frederic.

When Reynolds could get his bearings he ran to the highway and stopped a motorist who hastened to Mercy Hospital here for an ambulance where both men were taken. Mr. Brady seemed to be the most seriously injured, however X-rays showed that no bones were broken. He is suffering from a severe scalp wound at the back of his head, and was pretty badly shaken up. Reynolds suffered a broken collar bone and sprained left ankle, and was taken to Grace Hospital, Detroit, Tuesday to have the injuries cared for.

EMIL KRAUS RECEIVES PH. B. DEGREE

Emil L. Kraus, son of Mr. and Mrs. Emil Kraus, received the degree of Bachelor of Philosophy from the College of Arts and Sciences of the University of Detroit at its 55th annual commencement exercises Tuesday evening. Rev. Edmund A. Walsh, S. J., vice president of Georgetown University, Washington, D. C., gave the address on this occasion. On receiving this degree the young man completed his pre-legal work and in the fall plans on entering the University of Michigan Law school.

Emil was an honor student of Grayling High school, graduating with the class of 1934. While at the University of Detroit he has also maintained a high scholastic average and at the same time has been active in extra curricular activities. Emil is a member of Magi, Arts and Sciences social fraternity; the Sodality, in which he held the office of treasurer during his senior year; the French Club; the Philomathic society and the Symposium society. He also represented the College of Arts and Sciences on the Student Union board as a senior and had the honor of being chosen vice president of the junior class, and president of the senior class, and as a member of the Senior Ball committee.

The community, Grayling High school and many friends, we feel sure are very proud of the record Emil Kraus has made at University of Detroit, and predict for him much success at the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor. The Avalanche joins in extending congratulations and best wishes for his future success.

WERE REUNITED AFTER 25 YEARS

A very happy reunion occurred the last of the week when Ervin Cady of Grayling, and his brother George Sherman Cady of Moberg, South Dakota were reunited after having lost all trace of each other for over 25 years. Each one had thought the other dead from rumors they had heard until George Cady while visiting relatives in Bay City learned that his brother was residing in Grayling.

A speedy reunion took place and Mr. Cady is making an extended visit at his brother's home here.

Years ago when they were small boys the two brothers had lived with their father Sherman Cady in South Branch township and their grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Cady, who are well remembered by many in that vicinity. In the course of time they were separated.

Salt Water Made Fresh

By distillation salt water is converted into steam, which is then condensed into water again. The salt remains as a residue. Often on shipboard fresh water is made in this manner, and many vessels carry equipment for converting sea water in case of emergency.

FIRECRACKERS

Michigan has a law prohibiting the sale of firecrackers and other fireworks within its boundaries. That was done to protect lives and property and to eliminate distressing and unnecessary noises. But firms outside of Michigan are not prohibited from selling by mail to people within the state, with the result that the boom of cannon crackers may be heard in all parts of the city both day and night.

Natural zeal and enthusiasm for the celebration of the nation's birthday on the 4th of July and even on the night before, might be excused. However the nuisance of having to listen to the fire of fire and cannon-crackers for weeks in advance of the 4th should not have to be tolerated.

Marshal Morgan Paige, chief of police, is issuing a warning against the firecracker nuisance and intends to make arrests whenever such action is warranted. That the practice of firing these noisy bombs is a nuisance and a clear case of disturbing the peace is definitely true and the people do not have to stand for it if they don't want to. If there is any institution in Grayling that likes to see our boys and girls have a good time it is the Avalanche but that does not mean that we must condone a nuisance or disturbance of the peace.

It happens at this time that there are several seriously ill persons in Grayling who have been annoyed by the firecrackers. If any man or boy knowingly would bring unpleasantness to such persons, he belongs in jail, and we know the public will back up the officer who would make such arrests.

The fire and cannon-cracker shooting in Grayling has become a real nuisance.

THAT the Michigan Public Service Co. isn't living up to the terms of its franchise contract appears to be true. But to try to do something about it seems like labor lost. Appeal to the Public Utilities Commission seems to be equally futile. A little trust busting might not be out of order.

We cannot help but appreciate how the State Public Utilities Commission responded to our appeal when this Editor wrote them requesting that they investigate the electric service that was being furnished Grayling. That was more than 15 years ago, when the old Grayling Electric Co. was in operation. That Commission didn't lose any time and it wasn't long before the local Company was given to understand that they would have to get busy and give Grayling day and night service. The local company apparently didn't even have a franchise on record in the offices of the Commission. We all know the results that followed. A special election was called and carried for the granting of a franchise to the Grayling Electric Co. Then that Company had something to sell, and the Michigan Public Service Co. was the purchaser.

Just what the next move must be to force this Company to live up to its contract, (which it is generally believed it is not doing), is not certain. We cannot believe that we are getting the service the Company owes this community, and just as long as we take it, whether we like it or not, just so long will we have to continue to do so. It's the squeaking wheel that gets greased, and unless we do something about this matter it can hardly be expected that the Company will do anything about it.

JUNE GRADUATES

Within the next few weeks the annual crop of thousands of graduates will pour out of high schools and colleges, ambitious and eager to plunge into the realism of life.

They'll find a situation, paralleling in most cases, that of graduates of the last eight or nine years. Jobs will be scarce, pay trivial, and, if they don't become cynical in the process, they'll find that the place the world has been holding for them, is nothing but a niche created by their own sweat and ingenuity.

Walter Pitkin, author and psychologist, advises the graduates to get a job of some sort, forget about their particular likes and dislikes, but to work doing something that leads in the direction of a job.

"But the real world is a tough place to jump into cold," he says. "It's tackled best by the youth who has warmed to the task of finding a job—by getting his running start first. Bright youngsters are beginning to learn the importance of changing the old saying 'Well done is half done' to 'Early begun is half done'."

The importance of having the ingenuity to create work and jobs should be realized by graduates today more than ever before. An evolution is in process which is changing the world of cut-and-dried positions to one of niches created by earnest and far-seeing endeavor.

False pride has led more graduates astray than anything else. Luckily, our college graduates are beginning to realize that jobs which dirty their hands and are lower than the position for which they believe they were trained, are stepping stones to their chosen profession.

We are not a great deal different than our pioneer ancestors. They had to carve a ledge for themselves out of an uncompromising wilderness. We today are deriving the riches and wealth of this great land, that they so earnestly sought. But we cannot rest on their laurels, for in the meanwhile, a situation has arisen that challenges our greatest powers. Our youth once more is called to pioneer. This time not in the face of an unyielding wilderness and unseen dangers, but in the face of unemployment and decadent democracy. Their efforts are as important as those of a century ago.—Michigan Men and Affairs.

SAGINAW WHOLESALERS COMING TUES., JUNE 14

A large party of wholesalers and bankers from Saginaw will visit Grayling on their 1938 Goodfellowship Trip Tuesday, June 14th. The auto caravan carrying the Saginaw men will arrive in Grayling Tuesday afternoon, according to William A. Rorke, Secretary, who was here last week to make the necessary arrangements.

The Trip is one of several which the Wholesale Merchants of the Saginaw Board of Commerce take every year into the territory surrounding Saginaw. The party is made up of the owners and executive heads of the wholesale establishments and the purpose of the visit to Grayling is to become better acquainted with our retail merchants.

The wholesalers will be accompanied by a band and have plenty of souvenirs for the children.

The following officers were elected: President, Mrs. Carl Peterson; first vice president, Mrs. Anthony Trudeau; second vice president, Mrs. Gerald Poor; secretary, Mrs. Stanley Stealy; treasurer, Mrs. H. G. Jarmin.

The church year closes on June 30th, but inasmuch as the minister must leave for conference on June 21st with all reports made out, the members and friends of the church are sincerely requested to make their contributions or the balance on their pledges before the 21st. HOW TO AVOID A JOB—AND TEN WAYS TO LAND ONE!

Win Northern Mich. Conference

Grayling High school baseball team won the Northern Michigan championship in Class C Friday afternoon when they played Charlevoix on the home field, shutting out their opponents 6 to 0.

It was a great game, probably the best ever played by the High school. Jim Peterson was on the mound for Grayling with Johnny Deekrow behind the bat, and with great support in both the infield and outfield they sent Charlevoix home scoreless.

At one time in the second inning Charlevoix had the bases loaded but no play materialized to send any man across the home plate.

Coach Cornell's men won the southern conference and Charlevoix the northern and the game Friday determined the championship, which Grayling is proud to hold.

Many Fawns Being Born

If you happen to be in the wooded north these days and if you are favored by destiny, you might happen to discover by accident a small spotted creature tucked away in some thicket.

If you do, leave it alone. Its mother knows where it is and has hidden it there purposely while she is away feeding or watering.

Thousands of fawns are now making their debut, others have been around long enough to run a pretty good race, the season extending from the latter part of May into the first part of June. For many of the does, this period means the arrival of twins. Triplets are not uncommon but quadruplets are rare.

The usual procedure of the doe is to select a likely spot in some thickets on the edge of a clearing, the clearing giving her visibility and a clear space for any breeze that might come along and blow the bugs away. At first the doe will leave her new-born only a couple of times a day, later she will go out and return six to ten times a day to feed the youngster or youngsters.

The fawn is ordinarily able to get onto its feet within a couple of hours after birth. Within less than a week it is strong enough to outrun a man.

Colors of Planets.

The smaller planets, Mercury, Venus and Mars, are believed to have a solid surface composed of rocks very similar to those of the earth. Mercury is stated by some observers to have no perceptible supply of water, but the two other planets have water and ice on parts of their surface. The larger planets, Jupiter, Saturn, Uranus and Neptune, are not solid but appear as balls of cloud, which may have solid or liquid nuclei. The ruddy color of Mars, to the observer is due to the red surface of much of that planet, but there are also dark markings which show a seasonal variation in color. The planet Pluto also has an apparent redness, suggesting a thin atmosphere and a surface of low reflecting power. Venus has a silvery brilliance, while Mercury is more inclined to redness; Saturn is yellowish, Uranus pale green and Jupiter shows a variety of colors, with reddish ones conspicuous.

TAKE IT OR LEAVE IT!

By IROQUOIS DAHL

ACCORDING to a press release from the Canadian National Railways, Messrs. William Bergman and Alfred Crawley of Fort Frances, Ontario, were on a timber cruising trip north of Mine Center, when they decided to camp for the night on the shores of Nora Lake. Crawley declared that a lake trout would taste mighty good for supper. He started to fish and before very long caught a five-pounder. Immediately he began cleaning the fish. Before Crawley realized what had happened, a big great northern pike shot out of the weeds and grabbed the half-cleaned trout away from him. Good-by supper!

Illuminated Cascades—Unique on American Continent

Jackson, a bustling city of attractive homes and friendly people, is sometimes called "The Hub of Southern Michigan," but it is also the center of Jackson County's resort area.

Chief among Jackson's attractions is the Sparks Cascades, which is illuminated at night and visited yearly by more than a million visitors. Except for a similar attraction in Germany, these sparkling water falls are unique in the world's catalog of tourist attractions. Located on a five-hundred acre tract, these cascades were developed by Captain William Sparks at a cost of five million dollars, and presented to the city of Jackson.

Jackson is a county of parks—another is the Ella W. Sharp Park of 580 acres which was donated to the City of Jackson by the late Ella W. Sharp with an endowment fund for its development. It stands as a beautiful shrine to her memory.

Near Somerset Center is a beautiful estate which has become almost a village shrine. Realistic trees, log benches and rustic bridges over Goose Creek are made out of cement by workmen imported from Mexico.

Let the wheel turn on its hub and see what also this county has to offer. If you stood in the center of the city and pointed your finger in any direction, it would be pointing

"IF A MAN DIE"

By

LEONARD A. BARRETT

The obsequies of a truly great scholar recently conducted in one of our American colleges, reminded one of the lines:

"When a good man dies—for years beyond his ken,
The good he leaves behind him lies upon the paths of men."

It was in an hour set apart from the strain and stress of our modern life, an hour of solitude when in introspection one's thoughts might easily turn to immortality. Who has not had experiences in which the stern realities of life challenge our most serious thought, especially as we face the alternative of life—that vast unknown we call "hereafter." Two words hold our attention when we try to unravel the mystery: one is law and the other is power.

Law is an outward force which brings liberty, if we obey it. Power is an inward force, an internal dynamic.

Disobedience to law brings a penalty. Disregard for inner power results in impotency.

Immortality is not an outward reward but an inner right we already possess. Whether we like it or not, we are immortal, said a wise philosopher. Immortality cannot be proven by scientific speculation. No one ever came back, in spite of all attempts, to tell us what the world beyond was like. The wise Greek who died from his cup of hemlock, saw in those last moments beyond the "colder reason's part." Perhaps the wisest course is to ponder questions of immortality rather than to seek illusive evidences of it. Let us ask, What use am I making of my immortality? What difference does it make if death does not end all? What does immortality do for me? If we are to live eternally, how shall we live? Life is without meaning to the fatalist; to the one who believes in immortality, it is charged with purpose and with power. Robert Browning wrote, "If there is a heaven, there must be a hell." Is life only an enigma or is it an entity capable of endless endeavor?

If a man is not going to die eternally, what does he think about? Thoughts shape the material, but the material does not shape the life-giving action of the thought. One may create in likeness, a beautiful rose, but by no conceivable power can thought give life to the rose. Life is power which abides within. We are subject, therefore, to two kinds of forces: law without and power within. The latter may be our inheritance, the former, our environment. Both are necessary to human progress not only in its tangible achievement, but in its intangible expectation. Our obedience to law and our surrender to internal power determine our destiny. "Choice goes on forever twist the darkness and the light."

The organ is not music, nor is the marble the message of the sculptor. They are the instruments through which the artist can express himself. In similar way, personality expresses itself through a body. Its expansion is realized in culture and in experience. The thought of immortality in civilizations long since decayed has been and ever shall be the pinnacle of unseen power, drawing humanity upward and on. We cannot lose that thought in our generation. Man's first discovery is nature's law of death, but his later discovery may be expressed in the thought which Addison puts into Plato's mind: "Thou reasonest well; else whence this pleasing hope, this fond desire, this longing after immortality?"

TO BROADCAST LOUIS-SCHMELING FIGHT

June 6.—Buick will bring to the nation the 1938 "battle of the century," according to an announcement today by W. F. Hufstader, general sales manager, that the Buick division of General Motors will sponsor the broadcast June 22 of the Louis-Schmeling fight in New York.

As in previous championship fight broadcasts sponsored by Buick, Clem McCarthy, veteran sports announcer, will give the blow-by-blow description to the radio fans. This will be the fifth heavyweight fight broadcast for Buick by Mr. McCarthy.

Both the red and blue networks of the National Broadcasting Company will be used, with plans for the largest chain ever hooked up for a sponsored broadcast. In addition, the fight will be carried to foreign countries through N.B.C. facilities.

Interest in the forthcoming battle is high throughout the sports world and it is expected that the championship broadcast will have the largest radio audience on record, Mr. Hufstader said.

Non-partisan News Letter

By GENE ALLEMAN

Lansing—Results of the Iowa democratic primary last Monday (June 6) were being studied this week at the Michigan capital city as a possible "straw in the wind" on how the federal government's new relief spending program will effect the Michigan election in November.

In the case of the Gillette-Wearin primary row, WPA administrator Harry Hopkins announced that if he were voting in the Iowa primary, he would support Representative Wearin "on his record." The record consisted principally of the fact that Gillette voted against Roosevelt's court reorganization plan, while Wearin voted for it.

Arthur Kroek, Pulitzer prize-winning Washington correspondent of the Democratic New York Times, interprets Hopkins' statement as openly putting "all the relief billions into Democrat party politics," and he points out further that during the 1936 campaign "there were many evidences that relief workers were shepherded by their State politician-bosses to vote the Democratic ticket solidly."

Mr. Kroek continues: "Since the Administration has spent about $21,000,000,000 in various forms of relief—of which more than $14,000,000,000 has gone into non-recoverable items—and since millions of men and women look to Washington for continuation and favor on the rolls, the importance of the Hopkins revelation is clear."

Recent WPA-relief figures for Michigan disclosed that one of every four persons is dependent today on the government. In view of this fact, it is more and more apparent that the vast federal pump priming program, spending billions through WPA and direct relief, will be no insignificant factor in Michigan's 1938 general election regardless of what party leaders may have to say.

Getting Your Share

When the federal government has billions of dollars to hand out, whether for highways, parks, swimming pools or whatnot—you can find few voters who do not insist on getting their share. The same voters may disapprove of vast public spending, as a recent Gallup survey showed, but if it is to be done, local leaders rush to Washington to make sure the home community will get its proportionate part of the cash.

The psychology is this: "If you have to contribute by taxes to spending, get as much of the money as you can."

Scores of federal postoffices have been built in Michigan, largely due to this public pressure.

Once you come to this conclusion, the next step is to favor the election, or re-election, of a representative who stands well with the White House and has a good chance of getting a slice of the pie.

More than one Republican voted for Murray D. Van Wagoner, state highway commissioner, because he wanted local highway improvements and believed that "Pat" could get more federal road money than an anti-New Dealer. Vice-President Garner put it this way: "You can't beat an administration with billions of dollars to spend." It looks like Jack was right.

Fry Sounds Warning

In view of the possible implications of the vast federal relief spending, the recent utterances of State Treasurer Theodore I. Fry, an old-line, stalwart Democrat, are quite remarkable.

Now serving his third term, Treasurer Fry warned that the WPA and PWA was tending to increase dependency upon government and that continuation of such paternalism over any length of time would inevitably result in a "millstone... of ever increasing taxation."

In view of the increased relief spending in Michigan, $14,500,000 of state money being expended since last July 1, Fry's declaration indicated that taxpayers might have to foot higher costs of welfare either directly in form of new or higher taxes or indirectly in form of higher commodity prices. He warned further that in England where a fourth of the population depends on a dole, citizens are taxed one-fourth of their income. How about Michigan? Draw your own conclusion.

Swing to the Right

Frank Fitzgerald, republican candidate for governor, has indicated that economy and home-rule for relief may be his leading campaign issues, if he wins the party nomination next September.

Harry Toy, rival candidate, has been emphasizing law and order. With these statements in mind, observers here find it significant that the state administration has made definite "turns to the right," of which Fry's speech at Fremont was one. Budget Director Harold Smith, collaborating with Governor Murphy, announces he will constitute so-called drastic economies for the next fiscal year, starting July 1. Department heads are warned to curtail expenditures or else run the risk of the state being unable to meet payrolls, now over $2,000,000 a month.

And to the Toy appeal for law and order, Governor Murphy told 5,000 members of the A. F. of L. and C. I. O. at Saginaw that "unions must stop unauthorized strikes and the seizure of property." The reference to "property seizure" recalls the 1938 seizure of utility plants by the C.I.O. and the widespread sit-down epidemic of 1937.

Labor and Industry

Because of C. I. O.—Goodyear labor trouble at Akron, a representative of the Akron Chamber of Commerce recently told R. C. Forbes, Hearst financial writer, "it was useless to attempt to attract any new industry whatsoever to Akron."

Akron's ill fortune, however, has been the good fortune of one Michigan small city—situated far from the automobile belt—which has secured a Goodyear tire factory, employing 200 persons, and only recently received inside confirmation of the company's decision to double the plant facilities.

Reverse the order and you have a possible picture of what may happen in certain Michigan industrial centers.

Pin Points to Bliss

Girls in a village in the Vosges mountains seek to find out whether or not they will wed within a year by throwing pins into St. Sabine's fountain. If the pin defies gravity by floating, the thrower goes off happy in the belief that she will marry soon. But if it sinks, then she knows she has no prospects of marriage for at least 12 months.

Turin Clings to Traditions

Turin is more symmetrically and regularly laid out than any other town in Italy, nearly all the streets intersecting each other at right angles. It is a town which clings to its traditions, and traces of the Roman Castrum, crossed by the cardo and the decumanus, are visible.

Remember?

The local 1938 commencement makes us old timers recall the days when we were young... and when we proudly participated in high school graduation ceremonies. Photos posed by NBC artists.

Remember the sweet young thing who read the Class Will, who bequeathed your gum-chewing technique to little Johnny Jones of the freshman class? Miss Betty Winkler impersonates her here.

Then came the class prophet who predicted that 20 years hence you'd be a famous explorer... or something. Betty Caine, dressed like yesterday's graduate, shows how the prophet looked as she glanced into the dim future and made her awesome prognostications.

Frances Allison impersonates the valedictorian. Remember? She was the brightest girl in the class.

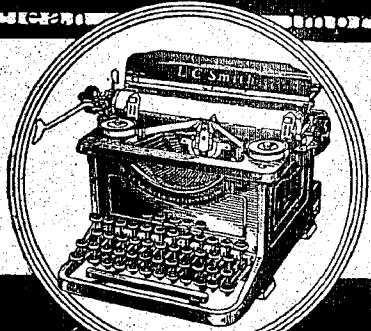

Then came the commencement speaker (played by Bill Thompson) who challenged you to face the world. Serious, purposeful, he might have been a rising young lawyer or a professor of economics from the university.

Then the climax, when the superintendent or the president of the school board gave you a diploma... and school days were over! Here is Sid Ellstrom in the official's role. School days! Grand old days, weren't they?

Picnic lunch baskets, boxes and what-have-you, were much in evidence the closing days of school, when most every grade had a picnic. We noticed a group of little tots—the kindergarten—with their teacher Miss Tapio making their way to the City Tourist park Wednesday morning. It was cloudy and cold and not a very nice day to say the least for a picnic, but the little tots were in happy spirits and marched along and soon were playing games and anxiously waiting for the time to eat sandwiches, and other goodies.

Indian Archers

The Indian archer carried his arrows in a quiver usually made of skin, but sometimes of tough bark; this was slung at his back or side, and was large enough to hold from ten to twenty arrows. The feathers used for making the vanes on the shafts were taken from the wings of wild geese, turkeys, eagles, vultures and herons, for which reason these birds were much sought after. Boys from infancy were taught the use of weapons, but their arrows were pointed with heavy wood instead of stone or bone. They were able to kill small birds, and in the clear water of shallow streams they waded and shot fish, of which they were very fond, often eating them raw.

June Brides Are Celebrated,
But How About the Groom?

June is the month of brides, and June brides are famous the country over. But nobody ever thinks of the June groom, who stays dutifully in the background until he's called to the altar. What do our June grooms think about as the fatal hour approaches? Do they actually chew their fingernails and consider the advisability of running away? Most of them probably do. Jack Haley of the movies gives his opinion in the following pictures.

"Gosh, tomorrow I take the big step. Gee, everybody's been giving me advice. Can you imagine! Some guys have the nerve to tell me that putting this ring on Mabel's finger means putting a ring around my neck! You know, a ball and chain! They're jealous, that's all!"

"I CAN'T DO IT! I CAN'T DO IT! I TELL YOU! I'LL RUN AWAY TO CHINA OR SUM'FIN! WHERE'S THAT TIMETABLE?"

"Saay, maybe there's something to that! No more staying out all night . . . no more poker sessions with the gang . . . no more . . . no more . . . NO!!"

"Heck! Am I a man or a mouse! I show 'em who wears the pants in this family . . . boy oh boy . . . I'll write my own set of rules. No. 1. Who's the head of this family? Answer: Me! . . . No. 2. And who pays the bills? Answer: Me! . . . and so far into the night."

"Leaning Tower of Pisa,"Italy's Most Noted Spot

You've probably heard of the "leaning tower" of Pisa, for it is one of the "Seven Wonders of the Modern World." But perhaps you might be interested in some of the details of its construction, and how it came to be known as the "leaning tower."

The tower is constructed entirely of white marble, with walls 18 feet thick at the base. It is eight stories high, about 178 feet, which is about the height of a modern 15-story building. At the top it is 164 feet out of the perpendicular. In other words, if a stone were dropped from the lower side of the upper gallery it would strike the ground 16 1/2 feet from the wall at the bottom of the tower, says a writer in the Washington Star.

The tower was intended as a bell-tower for the cathedral, which stands nearby. It was begun in 1174 and completed in 1350. The foundations were laid in sand and it started to tip after the first three galleries had been built. But the builders went right on with their work, with slightly changed plans.

Sometimes you will hear it referred to as the "falling" tower of Pisa, for it has tipped an additional foot in the last century.

The scientist Galileo, who was born in Pisa, used the tower in his experiments and observations of the stars. This tower has done more to make the Italian city of Pisa famous than all its exciting history, its noted paintings, and its other great buildings.

Bonnie, Bonnie Banks of Loch Lomond Attractive.

They may change the music of the folk song, but the "bonnie, bonnie banks of Loch Lomond" ranks as one of the greatest attractions of all Scotland, asserts a correspondent in the Philadelphia Inquirer.

Long before "jitterbugs" discovered the song, Loch Lomond held a high place in the hearts of all who knew its lovely shores, rich in stirring history and curious legends.

"Its fame and beauty has been recorded in poetry, song and legend for many generations and the entire countryside about it still wears the mantle of Sir Walter Scott's enchantment."

Loch Lomond and the Trossachs are the legendary land of Rob Roy and the scene of the "Lady of the Lake." On one of the islands of the lake Robert the Bruce grew the yews for the arrows needed by his archers.

Travelers to this region meet Rob Roy as soon as they leave the village of Abertyle, for the road winding up the hillside affords them a view of a solitary crag, known as his writing desk.

At Loch Arklet he carried off his bride, Helen Macgregor, and in Glen Arklet lies the site of a fort built to frighten him away—a fort which frightened the bold outlaw so little that he attacked it twice, and finally dismantled it.

Odd Railroad Expressions

Anyone can tell a railroad worker he "doesn't speak our language" and mean it. The steel-ribbed industry has its own vernacular, and Canadian National railways has been nice enough to put a number of railroad expressions, phrases and words together to prove it, writes a Canadian correspondent. For example, the engineer may be the engineer to us, but he's a "hogger" or "eagle eye" to his co-workers. The car repair man is called a car-toad, the boiler-maker iron skunk; the fireman, diamond pusher, or tal-low pot, or bakehead; the conductor, brass buttons or brains; officials, brass hats; the brakeman Scissor Bill or car catcher; telephone operators, hams; a checker, number grabber; section hand, gandy dancer; machinist, nut splitter; making fast time, "to beat her on the back"; throwing a switch, "bending the rail"; and to take water on the move is to "jerk soup."

Men Over Sixty

It is not good to believe that a man's best days are over at sixty. There are figures to show that the greatest productivity of man's life lies between his sixtieth and seventieth year. An examination made of the careers of some 400 men, the most notable of their time and outstanding in many activities—statesmen, painters, warriors, poets, writers and so on, says Pearson's London Weekly, shows that the decade of years between sixty and seventy contained 35 per cent of the world's greatest achievements—between seventy and eighty years 23 per cent—after eighty years 8 per cent. In other words, 64 per cent of the great achievements have been accomplished by men who have passed their sixtieth year.

Early Use of Mustard

It was not until the Eighteenth century that any attempt had been made to prepare the mustard seed for table use. Prior to that the seeds were brought to the table in their natural state and the diners would crush them on the sides of their plates with the handle of a knife. It was in the 1722 that a Mrs. Clemens of Durham, England, conceived the idea of grinding up the mustard seeds in exactly the same way as wheat was ground, manufacturing dry mustard as a commercial enterprise.

"SWEET MUSIC"

Ellis Linder, Swedish, seventy years old, is Washington's oldest and best maker of violins. Mr. Linder was born in Stockholm, has been in the United States for 55 years. He learned the trade from his father and has been working in violin shops since he was fifteen years old. Every day Mr. Linder can be seen in the window of his little shop building and repairing violins.

Dr. C. J. Hathaway, Optometrist, Pontiac, will be in Grayling June 9th and 10th, (Thursday and Friday) at his new quarters in Shoppenagons Inn. Phone 55 for appointment.

Bottle WasherOWNER CARL PETERSON
KEEPS PLANT MODERN

To one who has never visited Carl Peterson's Nehi bottling works, just across the railroad tracks on the Lake road, he will find here a model and modern establishment. To one not versed in the business he will get a lot of interest in watching the process of manufacturing soft drinks.

The bottling machine clicks out filled bottles pretty fast. One man feed the bottles into the machine which are carried beneath the automatic fillers, and they come out capped and ready to be packed into cases. All flavors of beverages, pure and sparkling, go into the bottles.

The washing of used bottles by an automatic washer, the latest installment, cleanses the bottles both inside and outside. Every particle of foreign substances is removed and the bottles sterilized. Powerful streams of cold water remove the loose substances from the bottles after which they pass thru a long tank of sterilizing fluid. Then they are rinsed inside and outside by streams of hot water. The bottles then receive another cleansing of cold water. It requires each bottle 7 minutes to pass thru the washer and when they come out they are cleansed to the last degree.

Among the many products made there is the famous Royal Crown Cola. People are fast learning to prefer this beverage to those of other makes. It is endorsed by the Good Housekeeping magazine. This makes a fine drink any time of the year. Children as well as grown-ups enjoy it, and besides the bottles are larger and contain more drink than many other similar beverages. Many families buy it by the case of 24 bottles. You'll like Royal Crown Cola.

Nehi products are pure and delicious and made from the very highest quality of ingredients.
